EXPERIENCE

Dave's vision for the workplace is 'Engaged people doing fulfilling work in transformational organisations'.

With over 30 years' experience providing coaching services for a wide range of organisations, Dave has coached leaders at the CEO, executive, senior and middle levels. He has worked in NZ, Australia, the UK, South East Asia and the Middle East with clients in the social services, education, infrastructure, environmental and health sectors. Even though many of these have been large organisations, his focus has always been a personal one: 'How can this person be and do their best in their chosen context?'

Dave sees his coaching role as being that of a catalyst; he provides a safe space in which a person can reflect on their challenges, their beliefs, their passions and their goals. He supports people to explore the realities of their situation, face up to what needs to change and make the changes so that they can 'show up' and be fully effective in their roles.

Dave has a relaxed, friendly style and creates a climate in which trust, respect and honesty prevail. He has a passionate interest in helping people create their own professional learning journey and solve their own leadership challenges on that journey.
